

How to Hang Your Art

Wherever you decide to hang your art, you need a reliable system suitable for not only the artworks but also the walls. Featuring a top rim that connects with the ceiling, the railing system is made for the perfectionist: with this option, the ceiling, wall and hanging system all unite smoothly. Hanging your art properly is important for aesthetical reasons, but also to avoid damaging your beloved works, no matter how big or small they are.

ISA Art Advisory provides an art hanging system with clip-on railing, which consists of 200 cm long rails made of aluminum. They also come in white, therefore they are suitable for all interiors and virtually undetectable. You never have to worry about artworks falling down again or ugly nail holes ruining your walls, because each rail can carry up to 25 kg per meter! The perlon cord is almost invisible and very resistant, but if you have some extremely heavy wall decorations to hang, we can also provide thin steel cable.

Besides safely displaying your art collection, this hanging system offers other great benefits. It provides flexibility for seamlessly arranging and re-arranging your collection, or moving it from one wall to another. You can redecorate your home or office as often as you wish, without drilling new holes and damaging the walls each time.

To get the most out of our art hanging system, it is best to plan ahead and install it at the beginning of your building project or when you are renovating. This will guarantee that it blends perfectly with the ceiling, offering a truly invisible hanging system. If you would like to hang some artworks on the walls of your current living or working space, this is not a problem as you can always easily install the rails to existing walls.
